SEED: The first entry-level accreditation offered. The criteria within this level illustrate the company's initial interest in adopting the triple bottom line approach. These initial criteria introduce the framework for responsible management and policy development, as well as prepare the member to plan and monitor their overall impact. This initial step plants the seed for a responsible business future. In order to qualify for SEED certification the company must:

- Show that initial steps have been taken by the company to include a sustainable management system to management.
- Have met no less than 70% of the required SEED criteria in an audit.
- Where any criteria that have not been met (no more than 30%) the company will address these shortfalls within a period 3 months of the audit date and show evidence that the shortfalls have been rectified.

- Have no complaints made on the company by other certification bodies that are partners with RTTZ (these are: Travelife, any member of the Sustainable Tourism Certification Alliance Africa).
- A company can only remain on SEED level for a maximum of 2 years after which the company must improve and apply for the SAPLING certification level.

SAPLING: The Company has taken on the principles of a triple bottom line approach and has now started to incorporate these into their day-to-day actions and communication. - A company can only remain on SAPLING level for a maximum of 2 years after which the company must improve and apply for TREE level.

Systems are in place to monitor and redirect the operations and all the employees understand the triple bottom line approach. This step forms the core of the company culture. In order to qualify for TREE certification the company must:

APPLICATION STEP: fill out the applicants details form from the website including your accommodation facility name and contacts. Download and read the RTTZ terms and conditions and ensure that you agree to accept them (NB: you will be required to sign this and send it to us in step 2 when you upload all the documents.)

STEP

DOCUMENT REVIEW: use the document checklist on the website to find out what you will need to have to submit in writing to RTTZ for a document review.

Start to collate all the documentation that you already have and identify the documents that are missing. You will find plenty of help on the RTTZ website to assist you with policy writing, data collection and recording of training etc. Please feel free to contact RTTZ for guidance.

BOOK AN ONSITE, 3RD PARTY AUDIT: in addition to the document review RTTZ will need to verify that you have complied with the criteria for the seed level that cannot be checked in a document review. Depending on the size of the property this should take from a few hours to a full day to complete.

You can go to the RTTZ website and book your audit using the form provided. To ensure cost effectiveness RTTZ will try and schedule audits so that several can take place in the same area around the same time. These will happen approximately every 6 months. If you would like to book an individual audit, which will be slightly more expensive, please indicate this on the checklist together with you specified dates, and RTTZ will consider your request.

You will be expected to provide transport and accommodation, if required, for the auditor.

Once RTTZ reply to confirm the dates of the audit, you will need to pay the audit fee in accordance with the invoice and instructions provided by RTTZ.

STEP 04

PREPARE AND COORDINATE YOUR AUDIT: once you have booked your audit make sure that you are ready for the auditor. Carry out your own audit onsite to see if you think that you can comply with the criteria. Make any changes if necessary before the audit.

Plan the audit with the RTTZ coordinator and the auditor making sure that the transport and accommodation are organized.

Inform employees on site the date of the audit, and explain to them the process.

The auditor will carry out the audit, and then submit their report to the RTTZ coordinator who will then send you an audit report, giving recommendations and identifying any changes that need to be made.

STEP 05

IMPLEMENT RECOMMENDATIONS: once you have received the audit report from RTTZ you will need to consider the recommendations that they have made, and carry out the necessary changes. Once the changes have been made, the evidence will need to be relayed to RTTZ e.g. a photo, a signed document, etc.

STEP 06

REVIEW BY CERTIFICATION COMMITTEE: once the document review and the audit processes are completed, the application together with all the reports are submitted to the certification committee for review by the RTTZ coordinator.

The committee will meet every three months to consider all the completed applications at each level. If the committee decides that there are still changes that need to be made in order for the organization to be fully compliant then the process will return back to Step 5.

If the committee decides that the organization has complied with all the RTTZ criteria, certification will be awarded.

All information that the organization provides to RTTZ is treated as strictly confidential. Documentation is only accessible to certain RTTZ staff and the Certification Panel. All auditors are required to sign a confidentiality agreement with RTTZ.

APPEALS AND CONFLICTS

Auditor- the first point of appeal should be made during the closing meeting of the audit when the auditor is delivering the findings of the audit. At this point, if a company feels that they auditor has not correctly interpreted the criteria against their facility, the company should discuss the matter with the auditor. If the auditor is still insistent on the finding and the facilities are not on the same view, the facility will have to take the matter to the audit coordinator. Inform the auditor that you would like to take the matter to the audit coordinator, and the auditor will be able to provide you with their contacts. During the audit, the auditor has the last and final say.

Audit coordinator- the audit coordinators roles is to assist with the coordination and planning of an audit as well as acting as a sounding board for the auditor whilst in the field. The auditor can call the audit coordinator at any time for a cross reference or different option. The company can request the audit coordinator to review a finding on the auditor's report. The company must send an email to the audit coordinator requesting for their attention, the company must provide the criteria number, the auditors findings and describe in detail their complaint or reason for appeal.

Standards and certification committee- the final avenue for an appeal by the company is to write to the standards and certification committee. If the company has failed to convince the audit coordinator or wishes to complain about either the audit coordinator or auditor, the company must then take the matter to the standards and audit committee. Their contacts will be found in the terms and conditions of an audit. The standards and certification committee's roles are:

1. Appeals- to accommodate all appeals on any audit that has been carried out and make rulings if appeal is to be heard and to communicate the outcome of the appeal to the management.
2. Conflicts/ disagreements- to assist in any conflicts or disagreements regarding the certification process and/or standards.

AUDIT TARIFFS

RTTZ charge an audit fee and then on top of that for the auditor's time to travel to the audit. This is his/her travel time to get to the tourism property that has requested an audit, for example the Serengeti will require 2 days travel (there and back) and 4 to 6 hours in the camp/lodge for the audit, so we will generally charge for 2 days travel and the audit fee.
